

Basic Summer Program

This is the meat and potatoes of the Minnesota Valley Ski Team. The basic summer program includes ski training and technique sessions three days a week. Each session has a training component including endurance, strength and agility with some speed work in the later half of the summer.

Cost: $1200 Dates: June 14- March 2011

The Minnesota Valley Competition Team offers an advanced summer/fall program for juniors who want to be competitive on a national (and eventually international) level. The competition team will train with MN Valley coaches five days per week in the summer and the fall. Skiers on the competition team must be fully committed to skiing. Each team member will begin a yearly training plan, customized for each individual in May.

We will do lab testing in the field on rollerskis. The lab tests will be performed at the end of June, August and November and will include blood lactate testing.

Members of the competition team must keep a training log. We use the Polar HR monitors (RS400) to record and keep our coaching staff informed about your training. You will need one.
